

Local Procedure 22: Probationary Period

|                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Responsible Officer: | UCOP Chief Human Resources Officer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Effective Date:      | 5/5/2025                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Scope:               | Professional &amp; Support Staff Employees represented by a union should consult their applicable collective bargaining agreement. Policy-covered academic appointees should consult the Academic Personnel Manual. UCOP local procedures apply only to UCOP employees. Employees at other UC locations should consult their respective local procedures. |
| Contact:             | UCOP Local HR Procedure                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

I. PROCEDURE SUMMARY

This procedure provides requirements for implementation of the systemwide Personnel Policies for Staff Members \(PPSM\) 22: Probationary Period for local University of California Office of the President (UCOP) employees.

II. PROCEDURE TEXT

A. Performance Appraisals

The division/department head is responsible for ensuring that probationary employees receive at least one written performance appraisal from their immediate supervisor during the probationary period. Additional evaluations may be performed as needed.

The probationary employee's immediate supervisor should provide the probationary employee with a written performance appraisal at approximately the mid-point of the employee's probationary period that evaluates the employee's work performance and general suitability for University employment. If the employee is not working at a satisfactory level, the immediate supervisor should consult with the department's assigned Human Resources Business Partner (HRBP).

B. Extension of Probationary Period

A division/department may extend an employee's probationary period under appropriate circumstances (such as a significant change in the employee's duties, a change of supervisor, or performance issues) after consultation with the HRBP. Failure to complete a written performance appraisal is not a valid reason to extend the probationary period.

It may also be appropriate to extend an employee's probationary period in connection with a leave of absence per PPSM-2.210: Absence from Work or reasonable accommodation. The division/department head or designee must consult with the Accommodation and Leave

UCOP Local HR – Local Procedure 22: Probationary Period

Services to discuss extensions due to leaves of absence or reasonable accommodation and the appropriate length of such extensions.

The division/department head or designee must inform the employee in writing of the reason for, and the specific period of, any extension of probationary status at least seven calendar days prior to the original probationary period end date.

The probationary period may not be extended for longer than three months unless a longer extension is warranted due to a reasonable accommodation or leave of absence.

C. Release During the Probationary Period

Consistent with PPSM-22: Probationary Period, an employee serving a probationary period may be released at any time at the discretion of the University. Any release during an employee's probationary period must be discussed in advance with the Human Resources Business Partner. The Human Resources Business Partner will consult with the UCOP Local HR Employee and Labor Relations Manager when necessary.

Division/department heads are delegated the authority to approve the release of a probationary employee after consulting with the HRBP and final approval by the HRBP Director.

D. Completion of the Probationary Period

An employee who has satisfactorily completed the probationary period will be informed in writing by their immediate supervisor of their attainment of regular employee status. Failure to inform the employee will not affect their attainment of regular employee status if they have satisfactorily completed the probationary period.

Division/department heads are delegated the authority to approve the completion of an employee's probationary period.

E. Changes in Position and Trial Employment

A regular status UCOP employee who changes position and does not experience a break in service does not serve a new probationary period. A regular status employee who is laid off indefinitely and then recalled or rehired under preference for reemployment does not serve a new probationary period but may be required to serve a trial employment period in accordance with PPSM-60: Layoff and Reduction in Time from Professional & Support Staff Career Positions.

III. COMPLIANCE/RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Implementation of the Procedure

The Chief Human Resources Officer \(CHRO\) of UCOP Local HR is the Responsible Officer for this procedure and has the authority, in consultation with the appropriate UCOP leadership, to implement the procedure. The Responsible Officer may develop other supplementary information to support the implementation of this procedure.

These procedures apply to all units under the jurisdiction of UCOP, including UCPath.

UCOP Local HR – Local Procedure 22: Probationary Period

B. Revisions to the Procedure

UC local procedures supplement systemwide Presidential policies. When a systemwide policy is updated, the corresponding local procedure will be updated accordingly.

The CHRO of UCOP Local HR has the authority to initiate revisions to the procedure and ensure that procedures are regularly reviewed and updated, consistent with other UC policies, procedures, and applicable law.

C. Approval of Actions

All actions applicable to employees covered by this procedure that exceed this procedure (i.e. exceptions) must be approved by the CHRO of UCOP Local HR, consistent with the requirements of the applicable systemwide policy. Requests for exceptions to the applicable systemwide policy must be made to the officer described in that policy.

D. Compliance with the Procedure and Applicable Systemwide Policy

If there is a conflict between a local procedure and a systemwide policy, the content of the systemwide policy governs. Individual departments may maintain documented processes applicable to their internal operations or activities, but those processes may not conflict with this procedure or the applicable systemwide policy.

The CHRO of UCOP Local HR is responsible for the administration of this procedure.

IV. RELATED INFORMATION

- PPSM-22: Probationary Period (referenced in Sections I and II.C)
- PPSM-2.210: Absence from Work (referenced in Section II.B)
- PPSM-60: Layoff and Reduction in Time from Professional and Support Staff Career Positions (referenced in Section II.E)
- PPSM 62, 63, and 64 (referenced in Section III.E)
- PPSM-3: Types of Appointment
- PPSM-21: Selection and Appointment
- PPSM 23: Performance Management
- UCOP Local HR Performance Appraisal Process
- Staff Talent Evaluation Process Learning Resources

V. REVISION HISTORY

May 5, 2025: Revisions made to:

- Streamline and clarify information provided
- Eliminate redundancy
- Reorganize content

UCOP Local HR – Local Procedure 22: Probationary Period

- Update web links and office titles
- Ensure compliance with Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0

May 1, 2014: Initial issuance of procedure